Have you read The Bermuda Triangle, by Charles Berlitz? The setting is in an area of the western Atlantic where planes and ships have been disappearing without a sign as to what happens. This is not fiction - it is true, and leads us to believe as the author says, "The universe is not only stranger than we imagine, it is stranger than we can imagine."

This book received its name from the disappearance in the Bermuda area, of six planes and their crews on December 5, 1945. The first three were on a training mission with five officer pilots and nine crew members -- all experienced airmen -- and there was no reason for anything unusual to happen but something did happen. The radioman at Fort Fauderdale received a message saying, "This is an emergency; we seem to be off course; we cannot see land; we seem to be lost; even the ocean doesn't look as it should." Another message later saying, "Entering white water; we are completely lost." Then nothing. A rescue plane sent to the general area was also lost without a trace.

Ships disappearing in the Triangle have seldom left a clue but one was found afloat with only a hungry dog aboard. There is never any evidence of bloodshed or attack - the crew just vanished.

One theory as to the fate of these human beings is that U.F.O's kidnap them for experiments or to find out the stage of our technological advances. People who have seen U.F.O's have been so ridiculed that it is hard to get anyone to testify to having seen them, much less to tell what happened at the time.

Since there seems to be no logical explanation, independent researchers have come up with a number of ideas - some suggesting a "hole in the sky" which aircraft can enter but not leave; others believe, since ships as well as planes tend to disappear, that there is a magnet under the water drawing them to some undersea city of ancient culture.

Berlitz also wrote the book entitled Atlantis which is the story of a lost continent. He is an expert scuba diver and has examined firsthand many of these lost civilizations beneath the sea.

One thing for sure, if you read this book you will not wish to fly over the Bermuda Triangle nor go anywhere near it in in a ship. Since 1945, more than 100 planes and ships have vanished into thin air and more than a thousand lives have been lost in the past twenty-six years.

Parents, don't forget that Story Hour has started and your child will be delighted to come. Every other Tuesday. Check with your librarian for time.

St. Luke

The regular preaching service at the St. Luke Baptist Church was very inspiring. The pastor, Rev. McLaughlin was back from his vacation and conducted a very touching preaching and communion serv ice. His subject, "Are We Guilty?" was full of thought food. He also had a lovely session with the children at the service. Many little children were present with their little happy faces.

Recently the choirs of the St. Luke Choir gave a state rally which was very good. All states represented and the amount raised was $1,716.00. The crowned queen was Mrs. Louise Burkes of Lynchburg. 1st runner up was Mrs. Helen Hunter. Mrs. Mary Hamlett was the sponsor.

There will be a bake sale at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Canada on Saturday, Oct. 25, beginning at 4 p.m. Come and buy a nice dinner.

Sunday, October 26 will be Woman's Day. Mrs. Ora Smith will be the speaker. You are invited.

CHESTNUT GROVE

The Rev. Edward Witcher preached a very good sermon on the gospel. Everyone enjoyed the service.

Amherechos Will Be In Concert

The Amherechos of Amherst County High School, Amherst, Virginia, will highlight the festivities at the Appomattox County Railroad Festival. The group will perform a pops concert in the high school auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

The concert will include a wide variety of popular secular music ranging from Country & Western and Top Chart tunes to patriotic selections. A special feature of the evening will be "Twentiana", a choral montage of some of the favorite songs from the 1920's. The program will climax with a salute to the Bicentennial with George M. Cohan's "Patriotic Fantasy".

The ensemble features forty vocalists and a stage band. The group is in its fifth year of organization under the direction of J. Stevens Cox, Director of Choral Activities at Amherst.

The Amherechos have gained a reputation of fine choral music throughout the state. They have entertained over two hundred audiences in churches, civic clubs and many area high schools. Four years ago the ensemble was invited to be one of two guest vocal groups to perform for the Coronation Ceremonies at the International Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester. They have been invited to entertain over 2,000 educators at the District F Meeting of the Virginia Education Association. This honor was bestowed three of the past four years.

They are regular guests on the WLVA-TV Christmas program. Last year they were asked to present a full half-hour special telecast.

One of the highlights was the 1975 Spring Tour. They received a special invitation to sing the choral prelude to the Evensong Service at the National Cathedral in Washington, D.C. On that tour, they sang at Centenary United Methodist Church in Richmond and Stonewall School in Manassas.

They have cut a long playing album "Sing, Out Sweet Land" and have received "Superior" ratings from each of the three adjudicators at the District V Choral festival the past two years.

The evening promises to be quite a fun-filled one, with something to entertain all members of the family.
